The Venue – Eltham Palace

Combining Art Deco and ocean liner style, Eltham Palace is a stunning masterpiece of twentieth-century design.

Textile magnates Stephen and Virginia Courtauld built their glamorous Art Deco London showpiece in 1936, next to the remains of a medieval royal palace which was originally Henry VIII's boyhood home.

The dining room features stylish pink leather upholstered chairs and black-and-silver doors, portraying animals and birds from London Zoo

Indoor and outdoor space available

Location:
London SE9 5QE

Suitable for all kinds of team building, from small indoor activities to quad biking and clay pigeon shooting

Team Building Activities

Below are a selection of team building activities which we could offer as part of your package. This is merely a suggestion and we have many more options depending on your specific objectives.

Option 1 - The Great International Marble Run (approx. 2hrs)

This is a great event with a Global feel! A collaborative activity that asks teams to work together to construct and decorate a Marble Pipeline capable of mass-marble transportation. Teams plan, build, and test their pipelines (all under the watchful eye of our Marblesoft staff). Loads of laughs and a great team vibe are always present in this brilliant event!

Option 2 - GPS Treasure Hunt (approx. 3hrs)

Teams go out and about the grounds in this event to tackle the Treasure Hunt Challenge and win the prize. Incorporating GPS handsets, radios, logic puzzles, photo clues and cryptic questions - this event is perfect for a light-hearted group that wants to race to the finish

Team Building Activities

Option 3 – Labyrinth (approx. 3hrs)

Consistently our best-seller. This Crystal-Maze type event has teams working across a variety of active and cerebral challenges to win the title of Labyrinth Challenge Champions. A hugely enjoyable and very fun team building event.

Option 4 - Hells Bells (2-3 hours)

The objective is for the group to work as a whole to complete a giant 3D working sculpture. Teams do not instantly work out that it's essential for them to work together and this gradual realisation culminates in a "light bulb" moment of realisation when the penny drops.

Because the game involves solving puzzles using many different disciplines, creating costumes and constructing model sculptures it appeals to the widest range of participants. The key is for all these people to use their individual skills to come together successfully as one big team.
